*NOTE—The Extradition Ordinance 1958 [Ord. 2 of 1958] and the Commonwealth Fugitive Criminals Act 1967 [Act 54 of 1967] has since been repealed by the Extradition Act 1992 [Act 479]-see section 54 of Act 479.

Avoidance of marriages where either party is under minimum age for marriage

10. Any marriage purported to be solemnized in Malaysia shall be void if at the date of the marriage either party is under the age of eighteen years unless, for a female who has completed her sixteenth year, the solemnization of such marriage was authorized by a licence granted by the Chief Minister under subsection 21(2).

Prohibited relationships

11. (1) No person shall marry his or her grandparent, parent, child or grandchild, sister or brother, great-aunt or great-uncle, aunt or uncle, niece or nephew, great-niece or great-nephew, as the case may be:

Provided that nothing in this subsection shall prohibit any person who is a Hindu from marrying under Hindu law or custom his sister's daughter (niece) or her mothers's brother (uncle).

(2) No person shall marry the grandparent or parent, child or grandchild of his or her spouse or former spouse.

(3) No person shall marry the former spouse of his or her grandparent or parent, child or grandchild.

(6) The Chief Minister may in his discretion, notwithstanding this section, grant a licence under this section for a marriage to be solemnized if he is satisfied that such marriage is unobjectionable under the law, religion, custom or usage applicable to the parties thereto and, where such marriage is solemnized under such licence, such marriage shall be deemed to be valid.

Requirement of consent

12. (1) A person who has not completed his or her twenty-first year shall, notwithstanding that he or she shall have attained the age of majority as prescribed by the Age of Majority Act 1971 [Act 21], nevertheless be required, before marrying, to obtain the consent in writing—

(3) An application to the High Court under this section shall be made to a Judge in chambers.

(4) When an application is made to the High Court in consequence of a refusal to give consent, notice of the application shall be served upon the person who refused to give consent.

Publication of notice

15. Upon receipt of such notice, the Registrar shall cause such notice to be published by posting a copy in a conspicuous place in his office visible to the public and shall keep the same so posted up until he grants his certificate under section 17 or until three months have elapsed, whichever is the earlier.

Declaration to accompany notice

16. (1) Every notice required to be given under section 14 shall be accompanied by a written declaration—

(a) that one or both the parties to the intended marriage has been resident in the marriage district for the period of seven days immediately preceding the giving of such notice;

(i) that each of the parties is twenty-one years of age or over, or, if not, is a widower or widow, as the case may be; or

- (ii) if either party is a minor who has not been previously married and the female party not under the age of sixteen years, that the consent of the appropriate person mentioned in section 12 has been given in writing, or has been dispensed with, or has been given by a court in accordance with the provisions of section 12;
- (c) that there is no lawful impediment to the marriage; and
- (d) that neither of the parties to the intended marriage is married under any law, religion, custom or usage to any person other than the person with whom such marriage is proposed to be contracted.

(2) Every such declaration shall be in writing in the prescribed form and shall be made by the person giving such notice in the presence of the Registrar who shall attest the same; if such person does not understand Bahasa Malaysia, the Registrar shall ascertain whether such person is cognisant of the purport of the declaration and, if not shall translate or cause to be translated in his presence the declaration to such person into the language which he understands and shall certify on the declaration that such translation has been duly made or is not required as the case may be.

Issue of certificate for marriage

17. The Registrar, on being satisfied that the declaration complied with the requirements stated in section 16, shall at any time after the expiration of twenty-one days from the date of publication of the notice under section 15 and upon payment to him of the prescribed fee, issue his certificate for marriage in the prescribed form.

Marriage to take place within six months

18. Subject to section 20, if the marriage does not take place within six months after the date of publication of the notice, the notice and all proceedings consequent thereon shall be void and fresh notice shall be given before the parties can lawfully marry.

Caveat

19. (1) Any person, on payment of the prescribed fee, may enter a caveat with the Registrar against the issue of a certificate for the marriage of any person named in the caveat and notice of whose intended marriage has been given to the Registrar.

(2) A caveat entered under this section shall contain the name and place of residence of the person entering the caveat and the grounds of objection upon which the caveat is founded and shall be signed by the person entering the caveat.

Proceedings if caveat entered

20. (1) If a caveat is entered in accordance with section 19 the Registrar shall not issue a certificate for the marriage against which the caveat has been entered unless—

(a) after enquiring into the matter of the said objection, he is satisfied that it ought not to prevent the issue of such certificate for the marriage; or

(b) the caveat is withdrawn by the person who entered it:

Provided that in cases of doubt it shall be lawful for the Registrar to refer the matter of any such caveat to the High Court which shall decide upon the same.

(2) Where the Registrar has refused to issue the certificate for marriage the person applying for the same shall have a right of appeal to the High Court which shall thereupon either confirm the refusal or direct the grant of the certificate for marriage.

(4) The proceeding under this section shall be before a Judge in chambers.

(5) There shall be no appeal from a decision of a Judge under this section.

(6) If a caveat is entered in accordance with section 19, then, notwithstanding section 18, no fresh notice need be given and the parties may lawfully marry within three months from the date on which the Registrar issues the certificate for marriage.

(7) If the High Court declares the grounds of objections to be frivolous and such as ought not to prevent the issue of the certificate for marriage the person entering the caveat shall be liable for the costs of all proceedings relating thereto and for damages to be recovered by suit or action by the party against whose marriage such caveat was entered.

Licence

21. (1) The Chief Minister, upon proof being made to him by statutory declaration that there is no lawful impediment to the proposed marriage, and upon his being satisfied that the necessary consent, if any, to such marriage has been obtained, or that the consent has been dispensed with or given under section 12 may, if he shall think fit, dispense with the giving of notice, and with the issue of a certificate for marriage, and may grant his licence in the prescribed form, authorizing the solemnization of a marriage between the parties named in such licence.

(2) The Chief Minister may in his discretion grant a licence under this section authorizing the solemnization of a marriage although the female party to the marriage is under the age of eighteen years, but not in any case before her completion of sixteen years.

(2) The procedure for solemnization and registration of marriages at a Malaysian Embassy, High Commission or Consulate shall be similar in all respects to that which applies to marriages solemnized and registered in Malaysia under this Act as if the Registrar appointed for a foreign country were a Registrar in Malaysia.

(3) A marriage solemnized under this section shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a marriage solemnized in Malaysia, and subsection 7(2) shall apply mutatis mutandis in relation to any offence under this Act, in respect of such marriage.

PART VI

DIVORCE

Principles of law to be applied

47. Subject to the provisions contained in this Part, the court shall in all suits and proceedings hereunder act and give relief on principles which in the opinion of the court are, as nearly as may be, conformable to the principles on which the High Court of Justice in England acts and gives relief in matrimonial proceedings.

Extent of power to grant relief

48. (1) Nothing in this Act shall authorize the court to make any decree of divorce except—

- (a) where the marriage has been registered or deemed to be registered under this Act; or
- (b) where the marriage between the parties was contracted under a law providing that, or in contemplation of which, marriage is monogamous; and
- (c) where the domicile of the parties to the marriage at the time when the petition is presented is in Malaysia.

(2) Nothing in this Act shall authorize the court to make any decree of judicial separation except—

- (a) where the marriage has been registered or deemed to be registered under this Act; or
- (b) where the marriage between the parties was contracted under a law providing that, or in contemplation of which, marriage is monogamous; and
- (c) where both the parties to the marriage reside in Malaysia at the time of the commencement of proceedings.

Additional jurisdiction in proceedings by a wife

49. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in paragraph 48(1)(c), the court shall have jurisdiction to entertain proceedings by a wife under this Part, although the husband is not domiciled or resident in Malaysia if—

- (a) the wife has been deserted by the husband, or the husband has been deported from Malaysia under any law for the time being in force relating to the deportation of persons, and the husband was before the desertion or deportation domiciled in Malaysia; or
- (b) the wife is resident in Malaysia and has been ordinarily resident in Malaysia for a period of two years immediately preceding the commencement of the proceedings.

(2) In any proceedings in which the High Court has jurisdiction by virtue of this section, the issues shall be determined in accordance with the law which would be applicable thereto if the parties were domiciled or resident in Malaysia.

(3) In this section references to deportation from Malaysia shall be construed as including banishment or expulsion under any written law.

Restriction on petitions within two years of marriage

50. (1) Subject to subsection (2), no petition for divorce shall be presented to the court before the expiration of the period of two years from the date of the marriage (hereafter in this section referred to as “the specified period”).

(2) A Judge of the court may, on an application made to him, allow the presentation of a petition for divorce within the specified period on the ground that the case is one of exceptional circumstances or hardship suffered by the petitioner; but in determining the application the Judge shall have regard to the interests of any child of the marriage and to the question whether there is a reasonable probability of a reconciliation between the parties during the specified period.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the presentation of a petition based upon matters which occurred before the expiration of the specified period.

Dissolution on ground of conversion to Islam

51. (1) Where one party to a marriage has converted to Islam, the other party who has not so converted may petition for divorce:

Provided that no petition under this section shall be presented before the expiration of the period of three months from the date of the conversion.

(2) The Court upon dissolving the marriage may make provision for the wife or husband, and for the support, care and custody of the children of the marriage, if any, and may attach any conditions to the decree of the dissolution as it thinks fit.

(3) Section 50 shall not apply to any petition for divorce under this section.

Dissolution by mutual consent

52. If husband and wife mutually agree that their marriage should be dissolved they may after the expiration of two years from the date of their marriage present a joint petition accordingly and the court may, if it thinks fit, make a decree of divorce on being satisfied that both parties freely consent, and that proper provision is made for the wife and for the support, care and custody of the children, if any, of the marriage, and may attach such conditions to the decree of divorce as it thinks fit.

Breakdown of marriage to be sole ground for divorce

53. (1) Either party to a marriage may petition for a divorce on the ground that the marriage has irretrievably broken down.

(2) The court hearing such petition shall, so far as it reasonably can, inquire into the facts alleged as causing or leading to the breakdown of the marriage and, if satisfied that the circumstances make it just and reasonable to do so, make a decree for its dissolution.

Proof of breakdown

54. (1) In its inquiry into the facts and circumstances alleged as causing or leading to the breakdown of the marriage, the court shall have regard to one or more of the following facts, that is to say:

- (a) that the respondent has committed adultery and the petitioner finds it intolerable to live with the respondent;
- (b) that the respondent has behaved in such a way that the petitioner cannot reasonably be expected to live with the respondent;
- (c) that the respondent has deserted the petitioner for a continuous period of at least two years immediately preceding the presentation of the petition;
- (d) that the parties to the marriage have lived apart for a continuous period of at least two years immediately preceding the presentation of the petition.

(2) In considering whether it would be just and reasonable to make a decree the court shall consider all the circumstances, including the conduct of the parties and how the interests of any child or children of the marriage or of either party may be affected if the marriage is dissolved and it may make a decree nisi subject to such terms and conditions as the court may think fit to attach, but if it should appear to the court that in all the circumstances it would be wrong to dissolve the marriage it shall dismiss the petition.

Provisions designed to encourage reconciliation

55. (1) Provision may be made by rules of court for requiring that before the presentation of a petition for divorce the petitioner shall have recourse to the assistance and advice of such persons or bodies as may be made available for the purpose of effecting a reconciliation between parties to a marriage who have become estranged.

(2) If at any stage of proceedings for divorce it appears to the court that there is a reasonable possibility of a reconciliation between the parties to the marriage, the court may adjourn the proceedings for such period as it thinks fit to enable attempts to be made to effect such a reconciliation. The power conferred by the foregoing provision is additional to any other power of the court to adjourn proceedings.

Rules to provide for agreements to be referred to court

56. Provisions may be made by rules of court for enabling the parties to a marriage, or either of them, on application made either before or after the presentation of a petition for divorce, to refer to the court any agreement or arrangement made or proposed to be made between them, being an agreement or arrangement which relates to, arises out of, or is connected with, the proceedings for divorce which are contemplated or, as the case may be, have begun, and for enabling the court to express an opinion, should it think it desirable to do so, as to the reasonableness of the agreement or arrangement and to give such directions, if any, in the matter as it thinks fit.

Contents of divorce petition

57. (1) Every petition for divorce shall contain—

- (a) particulars of the marriage between the parties and the names, ages and sex of the children, if any, of the marriage;
- (b) particulars of the facts giving the court jurisdiction;
- (c) particulars of any previous matrimonial proceedings between the parties;
- (d) a statement of the principal allegations which it will be sought to prove as evidence of the breakdown of the marriage;
- (e) the terms of any agreement regarding maintenance of the wife or dependent party and the children, if any, of the marriage, or the division of any assets acquired through the joint efforts of the parties or the sole effort of one party or where no such agreement has been reached, the petitioner's proposals; and
- (f) particulars of the relief sought.

(2) Every petition for a divorce shall state what steps had been taken to effect a reconciliation.

Damages for adultery may be claimed against co-respondent

58. (1) On a petition for divorce in which adultery is alleged, or in the answer of a party to the marriage praying for divorce and alleging adultery, the party shall make the alleged adulterer or adulteress a co-respondent, unless excused by the court on special grounds from doing so.

(2) A petition under subsection (1) may include a prayer that the co-respondent be condemned in damages in respect of the alleged adultery.

(3) Where damages have been claimed against a co-respondent—

(a) if, after the close of the evidence for the petitioner, the court is of the opinion that there is not sufficient evidence against the co-respondent to justify requiring him or her to reply, the co-respondent shall be discharged from the proceedings; or

(b) if, at the conclusion of the hearing, the court is satisfied that adultery between the respondent and co-respondent has been proved, the court may award the petitioner such damages as it may think fit, but so that the award shall not include any exemplary or punitive element.

Powers of court on claim to damages for adultery

59. (1) The court may award damages against a co-respondent notwithstanding that the petition against the respondent is dismissed or adjourned.

(2) The court shall have power, when awarding damages, to direct that such damages or any part thereof, be vested in trustees upon trust to pay the income or capital thereof for the benefit of the minor children, if any, of the marriage or, where the petitioner is required to pay maintenance to the respondent, in or towards the payment of such maintenance, and subject thereto in trust for the petitioner.

(3) Whenever in any petition presented by a husband the alleged adultery has been established against the co-respondent, the court may order the co-respondent to pay the whole or any part of the costs of the proceedings; provided that no such order for costs shall be made if the respondent was at the time of the adultery living apart from the husband and living the life of a prostitute or if the co-respondent had not at the time of the adultery reason to believe the respondent to be a married woman.

Hearing of petition

60. If in any proceedings for divorce the respondent alleges against the petitioner and proves any such fact as is mentioned in section

54 the court may give the respondent the relief to which the respondent would have been entitled if the respondent had presented a petition seeking that relief.

Decree nisi and proceedings thereafter

61. (1) Every decree of divorce shall in the first instance be a decree nisi and shall not be made absolute before the expiration of three months from its grant unless the court by general or special order from time to time fixes a shorter period.

(2) Where a decree nisi of divorce has been granted and no application for it to be made absolute has been made by the party to whom it was granted, then, at any time after the expiration of three months from the earliest date on which that party could have made such an application, the party against whom it was granted may make an application to the court and on that application the court may—

- (a) notwithstanding the provisions of the last foregoing subsection, make the decree absolute;
- (b) rescind the decree nisi;
- (c) require further inquiry; or
- (d) otherwise deal with the case as it thinks fit.

Remarriage of divorced persons

62. Where a decree of divorce has been made absolute and either—

- (a) there is no right of appeal against the decree absolute;
- (b) the time for appealing against the decree absolute has expired without an appeal having been brought; or
- (c) an appeal against the decree absolute has been dismissed, either party to the former marriage may marry again.

Proceedings for decree nisi of presumption of death and divorce

63. (1) Any married person who alleges that reasonable grounds exist for supposing that the other party to the marriage is dead may present a petition to the court to have it presumed that the other party is dead and to have the marriage dissolved, and the court, if satisfied that such reasonable grounds exist, may make a decree nisi of presumption of death and of divorce.

(2) In any such proceedings the fact that for a period of seven years upwards the other party to the marriage has been continually absent from the petitioner, and the petitioner has no reason to believe that the other party has been living within that time, shall be evidence that he or she is dead until the contrary is proved.

(3) Sections 61 and 62 shall apply to a petition and a decree under this section as they apply to a petition for divorce and a decree of divorce respectively.

Judicial Separation

Judicial separation

64. (1) A petition for judicial separation may be presented to the court by either party to a marriage on the ground and circumstances set out in section 54 and that section shall, with the necessary modifications, apply in relation to such a petition as they apply in relation to a petition for divorce.

(2) Where a court grants a decree of judicial separation it shall no longer be obligatory for the petitioner to cohabit with the respondent.

(3) The court may, on an application by petition of the spouse against whom a decree of judicial separation has been made and on being satisfied that the allegations in the petition are true, rescind the decree at any time on the ground that it was obtained in the absence of the applicant or, if desertion was the ground of the decree, that there was reasonable cause for the alleged desertion.

Judicial separation no bar to petition for divorce

65. (1) A person shall not be prevented from presenting a petition for divorce, or the court from pronouncing a decree of divorce, by reason only that the petitioner has at any time been granted a judicial separation upon the same or substantially the same facts as those proved in support of the petition for divorce.

(2) On any such petition for divorce, the court may treat the decree of judicial separation as sufficient proof of the adultery, desertion, or other ground on which it was granted, but the court shall not pronounce a decree of divorce without receiving evidence from the petitioner.

(3) For the purposes of any such petition for divorce a period of desertion immediately preceding the institution of proceedings for a decree of judicial separation shall, if the parties have not resumed cohabitation and the decree has been continuously in force since the granting thereof, be deemed immediately to precede the presentation of the petition for divorce.

Property of wife after judicial separation

66. (1) The property of a wife who at the time of her death is judicially separated from her husband shall, in case she dies intestate, go as it would have gone if her husband had been then dead.

(2) Where, upon any such judicial separation, alimony has been decreed or ordered to be paid to the wife and the same is not duly paid by the husband he shall be liable for necessaries supplied for her use.

Nullity of Marriage

Extent of power to grant relief

67. Nothing in this Act shall authorize the court to make any decree of nullity of marriage except—

- (a) where the marriage has been registered or deemed to be registered under this Act; or
- (b) where the marriage between the parties was contracted under a law providing that, or in contemplation of which, marriage is monogamous; and
- (c) where both the parties to the marriage reside in Malaysia at the time of the commencement of the proceedings.

Petition for nullity of marriage

68. Any husband or wife may present a petition to the court praying for a decree of nullity in respect of his or her marriage.

Grounds on which a marriage is void

69. A marriage which takes place after the appointed date shall be void if—

- (a) at the time of the marriage either party was already lawfully married and the former husband or wife of such party was living at the time of the marriage and such former marriage was then in force;
- (b) a male person marries under eighteen years of age or a female person who is above sixteen years but under eighteen years marries without a special licence granted by the Chief Minister under section 10;
- (c) the parties are within the prohibited degrees of relationship unless the Chief Minister grants a special licence under subsection 11(6); or
- (d) the parties are not respectively male and female.

Grounds on which a marriage is voidable

70. A marriage which takes place after the appointed date shall be voidable on the following grounds only, that is to say:

- (a) that the marriage has not been consummated owing to the incapacity of either party to consummate it;
- (b) that the marriage has not been consummated owing to the wilful refusal of the respondent to consummate it;
- (c) that either party to the marriage did not validly consent to it, whether in consequence of duress, mistake, unsoundness of mind or otherwise;
- (d) that at the time of the marriage either party, though capable of giving a valid consent, was (whether continuously or intermittently) a mentally disordered person within the meaning of the Mental Disorders Ordinance 1952 [Ord. 31 of 1952] of such a kind or to such an extent as to be unfit for marriage;
- (e) that at the time of the marriage the respondent was suffering from venereal disease in a communicable form;
- (f) that at the time of the marriage the respondent was pregnant by some person other than the petitioner.

Bars to relief where marriage is voidable

71. (1) The court shall not grant a decree of nullity on any of the grounds mentioned in section 70 if the respondent satisfied the court—

- (a) that the petitioner, with knowledge that it was open to him to have the marriage avoided, so conducted himself in relation to the respondent as to lead the respondent reasonably to believe that he would not seek to do so; and
- (b) that it would be unjust to the respondent to grant the decree.

(2) Without prejudice to subsection (1), the court shall not grant a decree of nullity on the grounds mentioned in paragraph 70(e) or (f) unless it is satisfied that the petitioner was at the time of the marriage ignorant of the facts alleged.

(3) Subsection (1) replaces, in relation to the grounds mentioned in section 70, any rule of law whereby a decree may be refused by reason of approbation, ratification or lack of sincerity on the part of the petitioner or on similar grounds.

Marriages governed by foreign law or celebrated abroad under Malaysian law

72. Where, apart from this Act, any matter affecting the validity of a marriage would fall to be determined (in accordance with the rules of Private International Law) by reference to the law of a country outside Malaysia neither section 69 nor section 70 shall—

- (a) preclude the determination of that matter as aforesaid; or
- (b) require the application to the marriage of the grounds there mentioned except so far as applicable in accordance with those rules.

Effect of decree of nullity in case of voidable marriage

73. (1) If the court finds that the petitioner's case has been proved it shall pronounce a decree of nullity.

(2) A decree of nullity granted after the appointed date on the ground that marriage is voidable shall operate to annul the marriage only as respects any time after the coming into operation of the decree, and the marriage shall, notwithstanding the decree, be treated as if it had existed up to that time.

Collusion not to be bar to relief in cases of nullity

74. Collusion shall cease to be a bar to the granting of a decree of nullity.

Legitimacy where nullity decree made

75. (1) Where a decree of nullity is granted in respect of a voidable marriage, any child who would have been the legitimate child of the parties to the marriage if at the date of the decree it had been dissolved instead of being annulled shall be deemed to be their legitimate child.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, the child of a void marriage shall be treated as the legitimate child of his parent if, at the time of the solemnization of the marriage, both or either of the parties reasonably believed that the marriage was valid.

(3) Subsection (2) applies—

(a) only where the father of the child was domiciled in Malaysia at the time of the marriage; and

(b) in so far as it affects the devolution of any property only to children born after the appointed date.

(4) This section does not affect any rights under the intestacy of a person who died before the appointed date, and does not affect the operation or construction of any disposition coming into operation before the appointed date.

(5) Notwithstanding section 6 of the Legitimacy Act 1961 all children who are deemed legitimate at birth by virtue of the provisions of this section shall be so treated in all respects and not as persons legitimated at the date of the marriage or of the Legitimacy Act 1961 [Act 60] as provided therein.

(6) Any person claiming otherwise than in a petition for a declaration of nullity of the relevant marriage that a child shall be treated as the legitimate child of his parents by virtue of subsection (3) may apply for a decree to that effect and section 5 of the Legitimacy Act 1961 shall apply mutatis mutandis to such petition but the court shall not make such a decree unless satisfied by the petitioner that both or either of the parties to the marriage reasonably believed that the marriage was valid as not being in any way contrary to section 71.

(7) In this section the following expressions have the meaning hereby assigned to them, that is to say—

“void marriage” means a marriage declared to be void under sections 6, 10, 11, subsection 22(4) or section 72;

“disposition” has the same meaning as in the Legitimacy Act 1961, and any reference in this section to property is a reference to any real or personal property, or any interest in such property, which is limited by any disposition (whether subject to a preceding limitation or charge or not) in such a way as to devolve as nearly as the law permits, whether or not the property or some interest in the property may in some event become severed from it.

PART VII

MATTERS INCIDENTAL TO MATRIMONIAL PROCEEDINGS

Power for court to order division of matrimonial assets

76. (1) The court shall have power, when granting a decree of divorce or judicial separation, to order the division between the parties of any assets acquired by them during the marriage by their joint efforts or the sale of any such assets and the division between the parties of the proceeds of sale.

(2) In exercising the power conferred by subsection (1) the court shall have regard to—

- (a) the extent of the contributions made by each party in money, property or work towards the acquiring of the assets;
- (b) any debts owing by either party which were contracted for their joint benefit;
- (c) the needs of the minor children, if any, of the marriage, and subject to those considerations, the court shall incline towards equality of division.

(3) The court shall have power, when granting a decree of divorce or judicial separation, to order the division between the parties of any assets acquired during the marriage by the sole effort of one party to the marriage or the sale of any such assets and the division between the parties of the proceeds of sale.

(4) In exercising the power conferred by subsection (3) the court shall have regard to—

- (a) the extent of the contributions made by the other party who did not acquire the assets to the welfare of the family by looking after the home or caring the family;
- (b) the needs of the minor children, if any, of the marriage;

and subject to those considerations, the court may divide the assets or the proceeds of sale in such proportions as the court thinks reasonable; but in any case the party by whose effort the assets were acquired shall receive a greater proportion.

(5) For the purposes of this section, references to assets acquired during a marriage include assets owned before the marriage by one party which have been substantially improved during the marriage by the other party or by their joint efforts.

Maintenance of spouse

Power for court to order maintenance of spouse

77. (1) The court may order a man to pay maintenance to his wife or former wife—

- (a) during the course of any matrimonial proceedings;
- (b) when granting or subsequent to the grant of a decree of divorce or judicial separation;
- (c) if, after a decree declaring her presumed to be dead, she is found to be alive.

(2) The court shall have the corresponding power to order a woman to pay maintenance to her husband or former husband where he is incapacitated, wholly or partially, from earning a livelihood by reason of mental or physical injury or ill-health, and the court is satisfied that having regard to her means it is reasonable so to order.

Assessment of maintenance

78. In determining the amount of any maintenance to be paid by a man to his wife or former wife or by a woman to her husband or former husband, the court shall base its assessment primarily on the means and needs of the parties, regardless of the proportion such maintenance bears to the income of the husband or wife as the case may be, but shall have regard to the degree of responsibility which the court apportions to each party for the breakdown of the marriage.

Power for court to order security for maintenance

79. The court may in its discretion when awarding maintenance order the person liable to pay such maintenance to secure the whole or any part of it by vesting any property in trustees upon trust to pay such maintenance or part thereof out of the income from such property and, subject thereto, in trust for the settlor.

Compounding of maintenance

80. An agreement for the payment, in money or other property, of a capital sum in settlement of all future claims to maintenance, shall not be effective until it has been approved, or approved subject to conditions, by the court, but when so approved shall be a good defence to any claim for maintenance.

Duration of orders for maintenance

81. Except where an order for maintenance is expressed to be for any shorter period or where any such order has been rescinded, and subject to section 82, an order for maintenance shall expire—

- (a) if the maintenance was unsecured, on the death of the husband or of the wife, whichever is the earlier;
- (b) if the maintenance was secured, on the death of the spouse in whose favour it was made.

Right to maintenance to cease on remarriage

82. (1) The right of any divorced person to receive maintenance from his or her former spouse under any order of court shall cease on his or her marriage to or living in adultery with any other person.

(2) The right of any divorced person to receive maintenance from his or her former spouse under an agreement shall cease on his or her marriage to or living in adultery with any other person unless the agreement otherwise provides.

Power for court to vary orders for maintenance

83. The court may at any time and from time to time vary, or rescind, any subsisting order for maintenance, whether secured or unsecured, on the application of the person in whose favour or of the person against whom the order was made, or, in respect of secured maintenance, of the legal personal representatives of the latter, where it is satisfied that the order was based on any misrepresentation or mistake of fact or where there has been any material change in the circumstances.

Power for court to vary agreements for maintenance

84. Subject to section 80, the court may at any time and from time to time vary the terms of any agreement as to maintenance made between husband and wife, whether made before or after the appointed date, where it is satisfied that there has been any material change in the circumstances and notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any such agreement.

Maintenance payable under order of court to be inalienable

85. Maintenance payable to any person under any order of court shall not be assignable or transferable or liable to be attached, sequestered or levied upon for, or in respect of, any debt or claim whatsoever.

Recovery of arrears of maintenance

86. (1) Subject to subsection (3), arrears of unsecured maintenance, whether payable by agreement or under an order of court, shall be recoverable as a debt from the defaulter and, where they accrued due before the making of a receiving order against the defaulter, shall be provable in his or her bankruptcy and, where they accrued due before his or her death, shall be a debt due from his or her estate.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), arrears of unsecured maintenance which accrued due before the death of the person entitled thereto shall be recoverable as a debt by the legal personal representatives of such person.

(3) No amount owing as maintenance shall be recoverable in any suit if it accrued due more than three years before the institution of the suit.

PART VIII

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN

Meaning of “child”

87. In this Part, wherever the context so requires, “child” has the meaning of “child of the marriage” as defined in section 2 who is under the age of eighteen years.

Power for court to make order for custody

88. (1) The court may at any time by order place a child in the custody of his or her father or his or her mother or, where there are exceptional circumstances making it undesirable that the child be entrusted to either parent, of any other relative of the child or of any association the objects of which include child welfare or to any other suitable person.

(2) In deciding in whose custody a child should be placed the paramount consideration shall be the welfare of the child and subject to this the court shall have regard—

(a) to the wishes of the parents of the child; and

(b) to the wishes of the child, where he or she is of an age to express an independent opinion.

(3) There shall be a rebuttable presumption that it is for the good of a child below the age of seven years to be with his or her mother but in deciding whether that presumption applies to the facts of any particular case, the court shall have regard to the undesirability of disturbing the life of a child by changes of custody.

(4) Where there are two or more children of a marriage, the court shall not be bound to place both or all in the custody of the same person but shall consider the welfare of each independently.

Orders subject to conditions

89. (1) An order for custody may be made subject to such conditions as the court may think fit to impose, and subject to such conditions, if any, as may from time to time apply, shall entitle the person given custody to decide all questions relating to the upbringing and education of the child.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (1), an order for custody may—

- (a) contain conditions as to the place where the child is to reside, as to the manner of his or her education and as to the religion in which he or she is to be brought up;
- (b) provide for the child to be temporarily in the care and control of some person other than the person given custody;
- (c) provide for the child to visit a parent deprived of custody or any member of the family of a parent who is dead or has been deprived of custody at such times and for such periods as the court may consider reasonable;
- (d) give a parent deprived of custody or any member of the family of a parent who is dead or has been deprived of custody the right of access to the child at such times and with such frequency as the court may consider reasonable; or
- (e) prohibit the person given custody from taking the child out of Malaysia.

Declaratory order as to unfitness of parent to have custody

90. (1) The court may, when granting a divorce or judicial separation, or at any time thereafter, on the application of the father or the mother of any child of the marriage, make an order declaring either parent to be a person unfit to have the custody of the child and may at any time rescind any such order.

(2) Where an order has been made under subsection (1), and has not been rescinded, the parent thereby declared to be unfit shall not, on the death of the other person, be entitled to the custody of such child unless the court otherwise orders.

Custody of children deemed legitimate

91. When a child is deemed to be legitimate under section 75, the mother shall, in the absence of any agreement or order of court to the contrary, be entitled to custody of the child.

Duty to maintain children

92. Except where an agreement or order of court otherwise provides, it shall be the duty of a parent to maintain or contribute to the maintenance of his or her children, whether they are in his or her custody or the custody of any other person, either by providing them with such accommodation, clothing, food and education as may be reasonable having regard to his or her means and station in life or by paying the cost thereof.

Power for court to order maintenance for children

93. (1) The court may at any time order a man to pay maintenance for the benefit of his child—

- (a) if he has refused or neglected reasonably to provide for the child;
- (b) if he has deserted his wife and the child is in her charge;
- (c) during the pendency of any matrimonial proceedings; or
- (d) when making or subsequent to the making of an order placing the child in the custody of any other person.

(2) The court shall have the corresponding power to order a woman to pay or contribute towards the maintenance of her child where it is satisfied that having regard to her means it is reasonable so to order.

(3) An order under subsection (1) or (2) may direct payment to the person having custody or care and control of the child or trustees for the child.

Power for court to order security for maintenance

94. The court may, in its discretion, when ordering the payment of maintenance for the benefit of any child, order the person liable to pay such maintenance to secure the whole or any part of it by vesting any property in trustees upon trust to pay such maintenance or part thereof out of the income from such property, and subject thereto, in trust for the settlor.

Duration of orders for custody and maintenance

95. Except where an order for custody or maintenance of a child is expressed to be for any shorter period or where any such order has been rescinded, it shall expire on the attainment by the child of the age of eighteen years or where the child is under physical or mental disability, on the ceasing of such disability, whichever is the later.

Power for court to vary orders for custody or maintenance

96. The court may at any time and from time to time vary, or may rescind, any order for the custody or maintenance of a child on the application of any interested person, where it is satisfied that the order was based on any misrepresentation or mistake of fact or where there has been any material change in the circumstances.

Power for court to vary agreement for custody or maintenance

97. The court may at any time and from time to time vary the terms of any agreement relating to the custody or maintenance of a child, whether made before or after the appointed date, notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any such agreement, where it is satisfied that it is reasonable and for the welfare of the child so to do.

Recovery of arrears of maintenance

98. Section 86 shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to orders for the payment of maintenance for the benefit of any child.

Duty to maintain child accepted as member of family

99. (1) Where a man has accepted a child who is not his child as a member of his family, it shall be his duty to maintain such child while he or she remains a child, so far as the father and the mother of the child fail to do so, and the court may make such orders as may be necessary to ensure the welfare of the child:

Provided that the duty imposed by this subsection shall cease if the child is taken away by his or her father or mother.

(2) Any sums expended by a man maintaining such child shall be recoverable as a debt from the father or mother of the child.

Court to have regard to advice of welfare officers, etc.

100. When considering any question relating to the custody or maintenance of any child, the court shall, whenever it is practicable, take the advice of some person, whether or not a public officer, who is trained or experienced in child welfare but shall not be bound to follow such advice.

Power for court to restrain taking of child out of Malaysia

101. (1) The court may on the application of the father or mother of a child—

- (a) where any matrimonial proceeding is pending; or
- (b) where, under any agreement or order of court, one parent has custody of the child to the exclusion of the other,

issue an injunction restraining the other parent from taking the child out of Malaysia or may give leave for such child to be taken out of Malaysia either unconditionally or subject to such conditions or such undertaking as the court may think fit.

(2) The court may, on the application of any interested person, issue an injunction restraining any person, other than a person having custody of a child, from taking the child out of Malaysia.

(3) Failure to comply with an order made under this section shall be punishable as a contempt of court.

Other reliefs

Power for court to set aside and prevent dispositions intended to defeat claims to maintenance

102. (1) Where—

- (a) any matrimonial proceeding is pending;
- (b) an order has been made under section 76 and has not been complied with;
- (c) an order for maintenance has been made under section 77 or 93 and has not been rescinded; or
- (d) maintenance is payable under any agreement to or for the benefit of a spouse or former spouse or child, the court shall have power on application—

- (i) if it is satisfied that any disposition of property has been made by the spouse or former spouse or parent of the person by or on whose behalf the application is made, within the preceding three years, with the object on the part of the person making the disposition of reducing his or her means to pay maintenance or of depriving his or her spouse of any rights in relation to that property, to set aside the disposition; and
- (ii) if it is satisfied that any disposition of property is intended to be made with any such object, to grant an injunction preventing that disposition.

(2) For the purposes of this section—

“disposition” includes a sale, gift, lease, mortgage or any other transaction whereby ownership or possession of the property is transferred or encumbered but does not include a disposition made for money or money’s worth to or in favour of a person acting in good faith and in ignorance of the object with which the disposition is made;

“property” means property of any nature, movable or immovable, and includes money.

Injunction against molestation

103. The court shall have power during the pendency of any matrimonial proceedings or on or after the grant of a decree or divorce, judicial separation or annulment, to order any person to refrain from forcing his or her society on his or her spouse or former spouse and from other acts of molestation.

PART IX

Recognition of marriages contracted in Embassies, etc., in Malaysia

105. A marriage contracted in any foreign Embassy, High Commission or Consulate in Malaysia shall be recognised as valid for all purposes of the law of Malaysia if—

- (b) each of the parties had, at the time of the marriage, capacity to marry under the law of the country of his or her domicile; and

Requirement of reference to conciliatory body before petition for divorce

106. (1) No person shall petition for divorce, except under sections 51 and 52, unless he or she has first referred the matrimonial difficulty to a conciliatory body and that body has certified that it has failed to reconcile the parties:

Provided that this requirement shall not apply in any case—

- (i) where the petitioner alleges that he or she has been deserted by and does not know the whereabouts of his or her spouse;
- (ii) where the respondent is residing abroad and it is unlikely that he or she will enter the jurisdiction within six months next ensuing after the date of the petition;
- (iii) where the respondent has been required to appear before a conciliatory body and has wilfully failed to attend;
- (iv) where the respondent is imprisoned for a term of five years or more;
- (v) where the petitioner alleges that the respondent is suffering from incurable mental illness; or
- (vi) where the court is satisfied that there are exceptional circumstances which make reference to a conciliatory body impracticable.

(2) A matrimonial difficulty may be referred to any conciliatory body acceptable to both parties but, where they are unable to agree on a conciliatory body, shall be referred to the marriage tribunal for the area in which they reside or, where they are living in different areas, to the marriage tribunal for the area in which they had last resided together.

(3) A “conciliatory body” means—

(5) (a) A conciliatory body to which a matrimonial difficulty has been referred shall resolve it within the period of six months from the date of reference; and shall require the attendance of the parties and shall give each of them an opportunity of being heard and may hear such other persons and make such inquiries as it may think fit and may, if it considers it necessary, adjourn its proceedings from time to time.

(b) If the conciliatory body is unable to resolve the matrimonial difficulty to the satisfaction of the parties and to persuade them to resume married life together, it shall issue a certificate to that effect and may append to its certificate such recommendations as it thinks fit regarding maintenance, division of matrimonial property and the custody of the minor children, if any, of the marriage.

(c) No advocate or solicitor shall appear or act as such for any party in any proceeding before a conciliatory body and no party shall be represented by any person, other than a member of his or her family, without the leave of the conciliatory body.

(2) Every court which grants a decree of divorce or annulment shall forthwith send one certified true copy of the decree to the Registrar General for registration.

(3) Where a marriage which is solemnized in Malaysia is dissolved or annulled by a decree of a court of competent jurisdiction outside Malaysia, either of the parties may apply to the Registrar General for the registration of such decree and the Registrar General, on being satisfied that the decree is one which should be recognised as valid for the purposes of the law of Malaysia, shall register that decree.

(4) Where a decree of divorce or annulment, wherever granted, has dissolved a marriage which was solemnized in Malaysia and which has been registered under this Act or any written law in force immediately before the coming into force of this Act, the Registrar General shall, on registering such decree, cause the entry in the register of marriage relating to that marriage to be marked with the word "Dissolved" and a reference to the proceedings in which that decree was granted.

Power to make rules

108. (1) The Rules Committee may make rules regulating the practice and procedure in all matrimonial proceedings under this Act as they consider expedient and also rules to fix and regulate the fees and costs payable upon all such proceedings; and subject thereto all proceedings under this Act shall be regulated by the Divorce and Matrimonial Proceedings Rules 1980.
